DEATH OF MRS. HATCHER.

Mrs. Annie Hatcher, wife of Mr. Obed Hatcher, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Young on West Main St. yesterday evening about three o'clock.

Mrs. Hatcher was a sufferer from that much dreaded and fatal disease, consumption. Her death came rather unexpectedly, although it was known that she could not last long. She came back about three weeks ago from a visit to Florida, where she went in the belief that the change of climate might help her, but she found no relief and came back home to soon succumb to her ailment.

Mrs. Hatcher leaves a devoted husband and one child, about 3 years old. She was about twenty-four years of age.

The burial will take place this evening at the City cemetery, at 3:30 o'clock.

A. J. WOOD DEAD.

Mr. A. J. Wood died last night at eleven o'clock, from injuries received yesterday from a falling limb. He was out on his place looking after the cutting of some stock, and had just been warned that a falling tree had left a limb hanging in another, and, as he looked up, the limb fell, striking him across the shoulder, crushing it and paralyzing him. He was taken to his home and lived till eleven o'clock.

Mr. Wood had spent all his life at Columbia, and was known by every man who has ever done business there. He was engaged in building a cotton mill near town at the time of his death, and had expended something like $20,000 or $25,000 on the foundation and whether it will be finished now is a question. He was one of the wealthiest men in Columbia, and had three children, one son Jim Wood, who lives at Columbia, and two daughters, one of whom married T. A. Jennings, of Pensacola, and the other married Dr. Twitty, but died a few months ago.

Mr. Wood was a brother of Bill Wood, at Cottonwood, and Jeff Wood, of Abbeville.

TAFT WILL ENDEAVOR

TO SATISFY SOUTH.

Washington, March 24.—There was further indication at the White House yesterday that President Taft in making federal appointments in the south intends to consult as far as possible the wishes of senators from states in which the others are to be filled.

In pursuance of this policy he had a lengthy interview with Senator Edley D. Smith of South Carolina today, and it was said he also would consult with Senator Tillman regarding South Carolina offices. Mr. Taft also has noticed Senator Bailey that his wishes would be consulted along with those of his colleagues regarding today's appointments. The same rule it is declared, will apply to all southern states.

Postmaster General Hitchcock, who is chairman of the Republican National committee, became thoroughly conversant with the southern Republican situation probably will have, however, the last word to say regarding most of the southern appointments.

FOY WARD SHOT BY

CLEVE ROBINSON

Foy Ward, a negro boy 14 years old, who has been working in Cleve Robinson's clothes pressing shop, was perhaps fatally shot in the face this morning by his employer. Cleve says the shooting was purely accidental, while the mother of the boy, Lulu Ward, tells a different story. She says she ordered the boy this morning, not to go back to the shop that she had some errands on him to carry. He left home and she went to the shop in search of him and found him there. According to her testimony, she found Cleve in a bad humor, and when Cleve went into an adjoining room and got out a double-barreled shot gun, she feared he intended mischief for her, but as he noticed that he had his eye in the boy, Foy, she asked him if he was going to shoot any one to hurt her. She says that Cleve leveled the gun at her son, and that the barrel was standing over her shoulder when the shot was fired. She says she doesn't know why Cleve should have wanted to kill the boy, as he had not opened his mouth either to her or the man. No one saw the shooting but the three present, and the lad is so severely injured that he will probably die and never regain consciousness. The right side of his face was almost carried away by the heavy load of shot. Cleve Robinson is in jail to await the result of the shooting and an official investigation of the affair.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL.

The Republicans in their last campaign pledged themselves to tariff reform.

A bill has been introduced in congress, known as the Payne bill, but so many objections have been raised against its provisions that if it is ever passed at all, its author would not recognize it as his own.

That a tariff bill is needed goes without saying, and every Republican and every Democrat in congress will tell you that he favors something being done, but when a bill is introduced there are many objections raised to it, and the trouble is, these objections usually are based on good grounds. A tariff for revenue only, say the Democrats, but when any idea is suggested that takes away the protection that some of their constituents have been enjoying, you get a howl and a protest.

The opposition to the present Payne bill are many and most of them are good and sound reasons. They say the present measure will not help the poor man, but make his living expenses heavier. They say that its provisions would endanger our foreign trade relations and cause retaliatory legislation, that the bill will be injurious to our wheat growers, that the inheritance tax proposition won't do because it would interfere with state laws now in force in many states, taxing the inheritance of wealth, that the measure is not as reciprocal as it should be, that there has already been too much reduction on raw material and on much of manufactured articles, that tea is taxed and beer allowed to escape an increase, and that organized labor is discriminated against when it seeks to prohibit labor unions from using their labels on the articles they make.

It is already seen that the Payne bill will be torn to pieces and it is extremely doubtful if congress will be able to pass any tariff bill at this session which will give the relief sought and still contain enough revenue features to please both parties.

ABOUT BEDROOMS.

We spend one third of our lives in bed. For this reason the bedroom is an important factor in our physical health and vigor. The sleeping room furnishings should be few and simple in character. There should be no carpets for the collection of dust. The bed may be either of wood or iron, but the planner, the better. The floor should be of hardwood. The walls and ceilings should be paneled rather than papered. This will necessitate more frequent cleaning, but the process of washing the surfaces and panelement are cleansing and insure perfect ventilation. There should be windows opening to the outside air, and these should be opened whenever the room is occupied. In the morning the room and bedding should be thoroughly aired. Do not forget to open the windows in the day time, not to run up the shades and let in all the sunshine possible.

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS!

At the close of this month, I take this method of soliciting your trade for the next month, if you are not trading with us, as a trial is all we ask. Nothing but the best in Fish and Meats. We strive to please our customers.

STINGS OF HONEY BEES.

CURE RHEUMATISM.

New York, March 24.—The stings from the plain or garden bee are being used successfully at Roosevelt hospital for the treatment of rheumatism. Dr. Arthur W. Swan, graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons and a native of Massachusetts, is conducting the experiments. He started them after recalling the legend of his boyhood days that a bee sting was a preventative of rheumatism. Discussing the method and results, Dr. Swan says:

"I have tried the treatment on four obstinate cases; at least, it has resulted in a temporary improvement in each case. I think this is based on facts, that the stings cause a counter irritant, or that the peculiar sting of the bee acts as an antidote to the uric acid, which causes rheumatism."

UNANSWERED PRAYERS

Like some schoolmaster, kind in being stern,
Who hears the children crying o'er their slates
And calling "Help me master," yet helps not,
Since in his silence and refusal lies
Their self-development, so God abides
Unheeding many prayer. He is not deaf
To any cry sent up from earnest hearts;
He hears and strengthens, when he must deny.
He sees us weeping over life's hard sums;
But should he dry our tears, and give the key,
What would it profit us when school were done
And not one lesson mastered!

What a world
Were this if all our prayers were granted! Not
In famed Pandora's box were such vast ills
As lie in human hearts. Should our desires,
Voiced one by one, in prayer, ascend to God—
And come back as events, shaped to our wish,
What chaos would result!

In my fierce youth
I sighed out breath enough to move a fleet,
Voicing wild prayers to heaven for fancied boons
Which were denied; and that denial hurts
My knee to prayers of gratitude each day
Of my maturer life. Yet from those prayers
I rose always refigured for the strife
And conscious of new strength. Pray on sad heart!
That which thou pleadest for may not be given.
But in the lofty altitude where souls
Who supplicate God's grace are lifted, there
Thou shalt find help to bear thy future lot
Which is not elsewhere found.

Thousands of Women's Clubs.

Nobody knows how many Women's clubs there are in the United States. The General Federation of Women's Clubs was registered in the annals of 1908 as having over 3,000 clubs in its membership with 150,000 women on their rolls. But that was in January, 1908, and the Federation grows every year amazingly. It contains, too, only a few of the numerous women's clubs in the land, since there are small clubs, societies and circles everywhere which do not affiliate themselves with any State or national organization, but exist simply for the pleasure and profit of their own membership.—Harper's Bazar.

Selma's New Fever.

Selma has got the Shakespeare fever had. They say that people are willing to leave their business to hear Shakespeare recitals and readings and in a list of new books received by the library, one third, if not more is devoted to Shakespearean literature. If a community is going to have a fever of any kind, a Shakespeare fever is as good a kind to have as could be imagined. If the great bard's philosophy and precepts are taken to heart by Selma's people they will be the better. A good knowledge of the Bible and of Shakespeare would make any man cultured, good and useful.

The entertainment to be given at the Elite this evening bids fair to rival in attractiveness the production of "Union Depot for a Day," which was given by home talent last week. Tonight there will appear on the program "celebrities" that are not accustomed to appear before the footlights, but who are nevertheless abundantly able to be classed as "high priced attractions." Those who fail to attend the performance tonight, will regret having missed an opportunity of not only attending a splendid concert, but will miss getting a thorough course in the art of correct spelling. Admission only 15 cents.

LOST MONEY FOUND.

We noted yesterday that a traveling man had lost his purse, containing ninety dollars, while coming from Hartford to Dothan in an automobile.

The man was Mr. J. S. Lester of Atlanta. He remembered, after finding his money missing, that he had left the machine, some ten miles from the city, when the auto got stuck in the mud, and aided in getting it out of the trouble, and he thought that the purse must have worked out of his pocket at that place, so he sent his driver back to look for it and sure enough, the missing book was found, and brought back and delivered to its owner.

PUTS MUFFLER ON NEWSPAPER MEN

Amite City, La., March 24.—Judge Ellis this afternoon issued peremptory orders forbidding newspaper reporters from sending out either verbatim or in substance the testimony of witnesses in the trial of Avery Blount for the killing of Benjamin Breland his wife and stepdaughter.

He reinforced this order by the declaration that if it were violated, all newspaper men would be barred from the courtroom and if necessary, sent to jail. There are nine trials yet to be held that will be directly or indirectly affected by the present hearing and the securing of juries for the rest of them may be made impossible, says the prosecution, by publication of the testimony.

To-night Judge Ellis informed the newspaper men in attendance that he had concluded that he would not try to prevent them from sending out their reports in full, but that he had directly appealed to their papers not to print the testimony.

Col. G. M. West and wife, of Panama City, arrived here last night on their way home from Chicago, where they had been for ten days.

W. L. Lee, of Columbia, was here today.

Never look a gift horse in the mouth, for it is liable to either bite or snort

The longest journey in the world seems to be coming through the eye

Mr. Roosevelt will likely have no trouble in working off his new spelling spell, in Africa

As before stated, the man who can do a small job well, will have the gears worn off the trail leading to his door

Nature is so particular about having all of her laws enforced that a mob never feels the need of taking a hand

Something wrong in Atlanta. She hasn't pulled off a kidnapping affair, and doesn't seem to be thinking much about it

No one has asked Mr. Roosevelt to stay, not even his wife and now that he has gone, we will find out how badly we needed him

A New York doctor prescribed bee stings for rheumatism, so it is reported, but we don't believe it. Smallpox might cure rheumatism, also

One who talks much need not be so accurate. For he says when separated from the rest, to make up for that which is not all look at it that way, we are sure

We may yet live to see the time when ladies will wear hats that fit the head, and then it will matter but little whether they are on straight or not, and rats, or rat material, will cut poor figure

Lots of newspaper people and some readers are learning how to spell "kidnapper," "kidnaping," and "kidnapped," but there are still some who seem to learn slowly. The big papers use two "p's," or one, just as the mood strikes them

Police Commissioner Bingham of New York, says that a man holding a job like his, in that city, could easily make a million dollars a year. The salary paid doesn't amount to that much, naturally, but the thugs of that city would be perfectly willing, and even anxious, to supplement the balance

A stylishly dressed young woman went into an Atlanta home and looking among some quilts that were packed away, she extracted $45 in cold cash, and then calmly walked by the man of the house, while he sat on the veranda and smoked the pipe of peace, just at dawn. He thought she was a caller at the house, and we know not what she thought—that he was a shupap, most likely

Mr. W. S. Hyatt, who has for some time been connected with the Wiregrass Siftings, will, on the first of the month, leave for Rossmore, where he will be associated with the Randolph News, a paper that has recently established there. The paper is putting on a popular voting contest and Mr. Hyatt will also have supervision over it. Mr. Hyatt has made many friends in Dothan while he has been here, and is one of the most capable newspaper men in Alabama

Mr. Whittle feels that he would be doing the kidnapping as injurious by prosecuting them. But none these kidnappers go quiet, and, when they are again pressed for money, see that it is necessary to steal Willie again and cart him away and hold him till the Mr. Easy Whittle coughs up twenty thousand dollars. No one can blame him for taking the course he did to get the boy back safe, but when it comes to his refusing to appear as prosecutor we think his conscience is taking too much authority. This very fact would advertise him as being a man who would pay out good money readily, when his boy was stolen

TAKE THE SIGN DOWN.

There is a club in town, known as the "Shakespeare Club." This club evidently has for its mission the pursuit of Shakespeare's works till his writing come like, one two, three. I such is not the object of the club, then we don't know why it's here. It has a right to study Uncle William in any form, we suppose, but we protest on the mission of the last "a", when he would not stand for it himself

On the walls of the Ah-lea theatre (you will note how ready we fall into the correct way of saying it) hangs a large sign which, in big red letters, reads "Shakespeare Club." In this banner he the grounds for a good language snit, and if Shakespeare attention is ever called to it, we may look for trouble. Maybe the blame shouldn't be placed upon his club, possibly it isn't responsible, but if it is not, then we should like to know whose business it was to hang the thing on the walls of the Ah-lea, where every one might see and study it between acts, and in the hours which elapse before the starting of the show

We hope the members of the Shakespeare Club will take the business meeting and see what can be done about it

PEACH-BASKET HATS.

From the New York World

In the spring a woman's fancy lightly turns to things of wear. It is no mistake to place the peach-basket hat among the top most topics of the present hour. Touching the other extreme here is the proposal to increase the tariff on stockings, although we are not in the habit of cultivating fashions for revenues only. Despite the threatening dangers, there are to be many tints from violet to violent, with or without ornamental designs from sleeve to exuberant

To fair followers of fashion who are blessed with elbow dimples the return of the long sleeve should be a painful event. Yet the designer of new things decrees no radical departures, how shall they know he is busy? Art in the mode cannot live by grace alone. It is perhaps a relation that that skirts are to be fuller and underskirts to multiply. Those need the money who sell such stuff as petticoats are made of, far away with the scant severity of director's folds. Let us live and let live without getting out of style

Along with modes in dress there are modes in thought. These affect as well girls in college as women in culis. At Vassar, therefore, following a fashion of the moment, there is a discussion of sexless suffrage, and we read in one gentle protest that women should not vote because they "have a higher sphere." To which the response is immediate and obvious. "If women have a higher sphere it should be all-inclusive and not withdraw itself from the lower sphere"

To turn from the abstract to the concrete—not even the peach-basket hat should be immune to the office-seeking bee

POTLUCKER RECORD.

It is believed by a few that ex-treasurer Helms' potliker record is punctured to its ruin. All who know him know that he is fond of potliker, and is fond of telling about it. He has a potliker and corn bread and has told it all over the voting sections of this country. This record precedes him wherever he goes

The other day, Mr. Helms got down in Dr. Dalton's territory, meeting the plain people, and while he was thus engaged, the genial Doctor drove by and saw him hanging out on a neighbor's fence. He pulled up and passed the time of day, and invited the ex-treasurer to take dinner with him. The invitation was accepted after which the Doctor continued on his way saying that he would go on home and notify his wife, which on reaching home he proceeded to do telling the good lady that Mr. Helms would be there for dinner but that he was a peculiar kind of an individual, that he could eat on a table if it had anything else on it but potliker and corn bread that he was passionately fond of corn bread, and when it was thoroughly soaked in potliker all it turned green he just never knew when he had enough. He gave the good lady minute instructions to have nothing else on the table

In due time Mr. Helms arrived, but in the meantime the Doctor's instructions had been carried out to the letter, and when they sat down to dinner it was a sight to behold. The ladies of the house couldn't stand for it, and so the Doctor and the one time treasurer of Houston county faced a half-baked bowl of greenish, greasy potliker with plenty of bread but nothing else, not even the greens that the heker had been cooked with not even a piece of the bacon that had turished the greens. Just potliker and bread—the kind that Mr. Helms loved dearly

The Doctor said that Mr. Helms held his own with remarkable presence of mind, that he turned a little white but still looked hungry, and that he scooped up three big cups of that potliker and swigged it down like he wasn't looking for anything else. Then it was that the once hostess came to the rescue with the balance of the dinner and a good one, too, but the ex-treasurer couldn't stand much of it. He had overdone the potliker

March is going out like Mr. Roosevelt.

The folks who seem stuck-up often prove to be quite the opposite on closer acquaintance.

These high-up Washington officials have no trouble in placing themselves in New York when their jobs are outlawed

The more the people of Dothan and Houston county can do to point the fingers of the world this way, the better it will be.

It is gratifying to know that the robbers who held up and robbed a Pullman train didn't overlook the porters, the other day, and we suspect that the porters were the main attraction in the start.

No use to waste any sympathy for the wandering members of the Ananias Club, at least till it is ascertained whether or not Roosevelt will run again in 1912, which he has threatened, if Taft isn't good.

The South pole is now coming into note. We always have wondered why more people didn't try to find it, instead of hunting for that of the North, and we are glad to see that searching parties have the finding of the South pole in their minds.

Mrs. Lorillard found society too fat for a woman of her age, and rather than fall out as a has been she thought that she would take her life. New York society has been known to be too fast for people not brought up to it, but we had an idea that Washington wasn't so bad.

The steel trust now makes announcement, six months after the presidential election, that it will make a ten per cent cut in the wages of its employees. Before the election, they pretended not to be interested, beyond the statement that, if Bryan was elected, the works would be shut down.

We know it's bad form to quote the New York American, but we ought to be excused this time. It is the authority that Mr. Roosevelt threatens to come back and run against Taft, in case Taft does not carry out the policies of the Roosevelt administration. This is enough to make President Taft do his best, and we frankly expect it.

John Armstrong Chaloner, who is known mostly for being a one time husband of Amelie Rives, was wulking over his estate the other day and came upon a laborer busy beating his wife. He rushed upon the fellow and killed him, and now he is acquitted of the crime, which might have afforded his former wife an excuse for writing another novel.

It is worth a great deal to be able to live in one place a lifetime. There are many places one can go, many things one can see, but when all is said, it is the home life, the friends and acquaintances one makes while living in the same community, that count. They are handy when fortune smiles, and they rejoice with you; they are present when misfortune frowns, and they help you bear it.

A special U. T. C. Edition of the Florence Times came to our office last week, which is a model piece of printing. Aside from the clear-cut half-toned illustrations, the matter was well prepared, the advertising attractively displayed and the printing as good as one sees coming from the large offices. This edition is a distinct compliment to the newspaper folks and printers in the Times office. They know their business and do it well.

It is a well known fact that all printing establishments make typographical errors, but we feel sure though that if some of the old time newspaper men of Alabama were put in charge of overlooking the proofs of the different laws which the legislature tries to make, that not near so many errors would come up in a few years just when the laws are needed most. That last legislature passed the record or having more laws go by default on account of errors in having the journals printed

CLOSE AT SIX.

The days are getting a little longer than the nights now, and it is time the business houses of the town should consider the six o'clock closing again. Any business that will not do well in twelve hours or less, is a poor business, and should be shifted. One should start early enough in the morning to be able to stop at six in the evening, and let all be satisfied with the work of the day. This will give more time for recreation, for thinking, reading or doing odd jobs that disengage business from the mind and give it a much needed rest.

One could move up the supper hour—yes, we still call it supper here, but if this town keeps taking on agony for the next two or three years like it has the past here is no telling how long we will know the evening meal as supper.

So, if the business is working well, go home at six; or, even if it is not, close at six—rest, and divert your mind to something else, and you will be able to meet the issues of the day with clearer mind and stronger heart.

TREES.

The shade trees of this town are failures.

Years ago, if we thought of putting out shade trees at all, we put out a few water oaks, not realizing that while of sturdy nature, it required the growth of a generation to become worth anything. A few of our citizens put out elms, but they were attacked by the same thing that ruins peach and peach trees, and they were his made failures. Then came the sycamore period, (the sycamore in reality being a button wood) and they seemed to be the trees for this soil and climate, but they are not. Over half of those put out during the last six or eight years have died from the top, and there seems no way to prevent this.

Several years ago many people put out the Carolina poplar and it is a thrifty, healthy tree, but it is disappointed if you try to prevent it's growing as high as a mast pole. If allowed to have its way, it would likely grow a mile high on this soil, but the summer winds that come with rain storms, when the foliage is heavy, will bend them over to where the tops will lie on the ground. They would be the tree for us, likely, if they were topped back for a dozen years each spring. We call them the Carolina poplar here, but it is probably a species of the cottonwood, not the kind however that grow out west, on which to hang cattle thieves, because no plainsman ever lived who could throw a rope over the first limb, if they were allowed to grow up as they want to, with the limbs clustering near the body.

There is the silver leaf poplar, that grows about the branches here, which makes a fine shade tree, when put in the open, and given plenty of room. They live about as early as any tree that you may plant, even if not put out on wet ground, where they usually grow. The red oak, or yellow oak or even the black oak will do well here, as will also the Spanish oak, but we have seen no live oaks tried. But it takes time to grow an oak. One generation must put out oaks for the next. Some are gradually securing shade from a few peach trees planted around in the front yards, which will come in with a little shade and some peaches when our children are grown.

We who were brought up near the forest have looked upon trees in more in the way of promises than anything else, and have done more than we could grow in a lifetime but when we become old as a country, we will appreciate trees more and wish that we had taken better care of them or put out more than we did. A low leaved negro can do a short chop and chop a tree down in an hour, that it took nature a hundred years to grow. Trees should be cut down only when it is absolutely necessary. They should be put out before they are needed.

CHICKEN HOMILETIC.

A country minister in the course of his dining out on the circuit came to a house where a roast chicken was served for dinner. He had previously encountered a series of rich corned beef dinners and the chicken looked good to him.

"Well," he facetiously remarked, "there's where the chicken enters the ministry."

"Hope it does better there than in lay work," rejoined the small boy of the family. Boston Record.

Society and Items of Interest to Women.

There has been organized lately among the younger set of Dothan ladies, for both study and amusement. It is called the D. and L. Club, and, after a lesson along literary lines, the members enjoy a game of dominoes. These delightful young ladies were entertained last Saturday afternoon by Miss Annie Laurie Harris, at her home on Rose Hill. The club has taken for this year's work, the study of the Poets, and spent an interesting hour with Lowell at their meeting Saturday afternoon, after which they all thoroughly enjoyed the games. Miss Annie Laurie served her guests a salad course luncheon at the domino tables. The members of this club are: Misses Janie Farmer, Maude Crawford, Sadie Dyer, Ruth Stapleton, Jennie Mae Ward, Willie Pearl Carter, Lucille Willis, Eva Ames Annie Laurie Harris, Foy Pitts.

ABSORBING THE TRADE OF THE COUNTRY.

New York is striving to get possession of the trade of the whole country, both wholesale and retail. It is that city which is behind and pushing the parcels post bill. The great department stores there are the chief advocates of it. Even now they are sending packages of goods through the mails to practically every part of the country. They want the privilege, however, of sending much larger packages through the mails.

Believing doubtless that the proposed parcels post bill will soon become a law, another of the great Philadelphia department stores is preparing to establish a department store in New York. Wanakawer started in Philadelphia and remained there until he outgrew that city and then he started a similar store in New York, which is greater than the original one. The Gimbel Brothers have joined hands with another firm of like character and have purchased an entire block in New York, near the Pennsylvania Railroad depot, and have planned to erect a mammoth establishment on it. It is to be a department store, and the investment is to be something like $12,000,000.

These great department stores are not only to capture the local trade, but also the trade of the country hundreds of miles distant. If they succeed in getting the proposed parcels post law the retail merchants of the smaller cities and towns will suffer a loss of a very considerable percentage of the trade they now have. They will hardly be able to compete with these mammoth concerns. Distant patrons of the latter may not always get just what they want, but they will be attracted by the promises of lower prices. The cost of delivery will be no small through the mails that it will hardly figure in the purchases. In fact, goods will be delivered about as cheaply as they are delivered in New York. The merchant a thousand miles away, who is heavily taxed to support municipal, state and county governments under which he does business, will find it difficult to compete successfully with these great stores of the metropolis if the parcels post is established.

HOW TO MAKE A LAWN.

You may have been looking at the fine green turf of some pub-

Union, with the following ladies as officers:

Mrs. H. G. Forrester, President; Miss Joley Cotton, First Vice President; Miss Linsy Crawford, Second Vice President; Miss Mattie Crawford, Treasurer.

There were only ten members enrolled as a beginning, but several more are expected to join at the first meeting. They will hold this meeting Saturday afternoon.

The delegates from Dothan to the Woman's Home Mission Conference left yesterday morning for Union Springs, where the conference meets this year. The delegates were, Mrs. B. Culver, Mrs. Orin Hill, Mrs. Marchman and Mrs. Robert Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slovomb, of Headland, spent Monday in the city, the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Carlisle.

The spelling match between the ladies and the men, for the benefit of the city schools, will be given at the Elite theatre tomorrow evening. An interesting program of music and reading will be given before the spelling.

lie park and wishing that your little grassplot in front of your house would grow something beside weeds. "The lawn," says Frank A. Waugh, of Amherst College, "is the foundation of all good gardening." So why not have one?

No matter if you have never raised anything but a crop of old tin cans and rubbish heretofore, if you go at it in the right way you may have a little plot of the smoothest, most delightful green grass. It all depends on the way you begin it. In the April number of the Woman's Home Companion, Mr. Waugh, who is the big authority on all subjects pertaining to gardening, tells how to make a lawn from the very first, how the different soils must be prepared, what seeds to use, and the subsequent care that it requires.

The garden is capable of all kinds of good things—sanitary, social and domestic. With the revival of interest in outdoor life we must make our lawns and lawns attractive places to live in, with a certain and sure gain to our health and happiness.

The municipal court of Kansas City has ruled that a wife is entitled to 20 per cent. of her husband's income for pin money. He should give her the proportion from his gross income, paying all of the expenses of the establishment out of share of the earnings. The husband in the case that was at bar gets $60 a month, and there are five persons in the family. By the time he had paid the rent and the grocery bills and the clothing accounts and doctor's bills and for the drug and gas and all other fixed charges, and the 20 per cent. to the lady of the house he will probably have to go out and beg the loan of a cigarette from a friend.

TRIBUTES TO CARMICHAEL.

Ozark, March 22.—When court opened this morning Judge A. A. Evans announced that the hour had been set aside to hold memorial services in honor of that distinguished citizen, soldier and statesman, Judge Jesse Malcolm Carmichael.

Eulogies of the life and work of this truly good and great man were pronounced by H. B. Stegall, J. E. Z. Riley, Mike Soltie, O. J. Doster and H. L. Martin. Resolutions were unanimously adopted paying tribute to the life and character of Judge Carmichael.

BIG FERTILIZER FACTORY IN TROY IS DESTROYED.

Troy, March 23.—Troy had one of the biggest fires about three o'clock this morning that has ever occurred here, in the burning of a good part of the old fertilizer plant.

The lint and seed buildings were destroyed and a part of the other buildings were damaged.

The loss will amount to about $50,000 or $70,000, but is fully covered by insurance.

ANOTHER BOY KIDNAPED

Tolado, Ohio, March 23.—Tolado police are searching the city for Harold Moon, aged ten years at Flint, Mich., on February 22, who was kidnaped from his home. Plant citizens have offered $1,000 for the boy's safe return. In this case ransom has been demanded.

BEGINNING MARCH 28TH AT ELECTRIC THEATRE

The Electric theatre has agreed with the ladies of the Methodist Church, to give a benefit entertainment the entire week, beginning on Monday, March the 28th proceeds to be applied to the district parsonage. The ladies during the week will arrange programs of their own that will be very entertaining and the manager has ordered the very best and latest selections of pictures for this occasion. One of the special pictures will be "Saul and David," released in February. The "Holy City" will be illustrated by an able quartette. Home talent those that patronize the theatre next week will be royally entertained with the highest type of amusement. Admission will be 10 cents.

AMERICA NEEDS MORE DREAMERS.

Day dreams, castles in Spain, arguments of the imagination—ah now we laugh at them nowaday. They are good enough for the little ones, for the boys and girls, perhaps, but as for us—we have long ago outgrown them. What that gusto we speak of so and so is a hard-headed chap, a man a better, while we dismiss his rival with alight of the brows as an impractical fellow.

Shame upon us for it too! Give us more dreamers, I pray more of those whose inner eye is free of contact. We need that here in America today; we are too practical a people, says the Smart Set for April. We are young in years, but we have fought an aging battle for the supremacy of a great continent. We have come on out of the struggle with the rich trophies of victory fast etched in our enloured hands. We have worked desperately hard for them, and they are good to look upon, but we must have a cure now lest we bow down before them in abject fetish worship.

A BULL

A genuine bull is credited to Augustine Birrell, Secretary for Ireland, by a Bristol correspondent of the London Daily News. "It is easier," Mr. Birrell affirmed in the course of a public speech at Bristol, "to face your foes in front of you than your friends behind your back."

Partners in Crime.

The hard-looking fellow had been arrested for stealing an umbrella, says the Chicago Tribune. "What have you to say for yourself?" asked the police justice. "Are you guilty or not guilty?" "I'm one o' the guilty ones, y'r honor, I reckon," answered the prisoner. "The umbrella had the name of J. Thompson on the handle, G. H. Brickley stamped on the inside o' the cover, an' I stole it from a man named Quimby."

PENALTY FOR KIDNAPING

St. Paul, Minn., March 23.—Representative Nimericks announced today that he would introduce in the House tomorrow a bill making it a crime to kidnap the penalty of imprisonment.

DEATH IN COTTONWOOD.

News reached this city today that Mr. H. H. Metcalf, 55 years of age, died at his home in Cottonwood this morning.

Little habits get bigger, in time.

Over half of the people are honest when the times will admit it.

The good sub becomes the first man on the job if he keeps being the right kind of a sub long enough.

The Dothan citizens are catching the spirit and are cleaning up about their places to an alarming degree.

During the next few weeks the cotton crop will be all in again, and then the professional guessers will begin.

To fight the tick, is the heading of an article. It always looked bent to scratch him loose, and then engage in the fight.

The kidnappers won't get their justice unless they are tried by that new law, which makes such a crime punishable by death.

Varying scenes will greet the Roosevelt eye in Africa, but he will face a one-eyed camera about as often as he did over here. They are going with him.

The business men of Albany have organized a cotton mill company and $250,000 of capital stock has been subscribed. Work on the mill will begin at once.

The older we get as a town, the more automobiles we will have. Now, some won't consider that a good outlook, but it isn't bad; for the things make people think more about good roads.

Fred J. Haskins, who has a semi-serious story running in the Advertiser about things, is putting in so much copy till the common writer wonders how long it took him to prepare all this reading matter.

Many people are inclined to take a pessimistic view of Roosevelt's trip to Africa, but that seems to be premature. Any man who can get about over this country with the safety that this man has, will hold his own in any country.

LIVING A HUNDRED YEARS.

We used to think that few, if any persons in this country, ever really lived to become a centenarian. In most cases, when such claim is made, the records are deficient in establishing, beyond doubt, that the party had really lived a hundred years. We hardly read a paper nowadays, without seeing the death of some one who was over a hundred years of age.

The hundred year limit seems to be much easier to reach now than it was forty years ago. It may be that the advance which medical science has made during this time is responsible for the longer length of life of mankind.

Just after the Civil war, a North Carolina doctor, who was something of a crank, made the assertion that not one in a hundred of these reported centenarians could establish his age to the satisfaction of a court of inquiry. This eccentric physician offered a large reward, which was never taken, for satisfactory proof of the existence of any living man in North Carolina, who was a hundred or more years of age. Since this hunt for real centenarians, and its failure to find as many as one, we have always doubted, when we heard of people dying who had lived here a hundred years or more.

FRANKLIN NOTES.

The Franklin program for the last meeting was not as good as it usually is. Several pupils were unprepared because the program was not dated.

The press committee was appointed at this meeting.

The critic, Howard Roland, made a very good criticism and the remarks made by both the critic and Mr. Tompkins, were taken to heart by the members and the officers.

The declamation by Louis Lorraine and the newspaper read by the editor, Henry Williams, were among the best numbers on the programme.

The vocal duet by Janie Farmer and Sadie Dyerle was especially enjoyed. Mr. Brown has begun talking about the program for commencement and we hope each of the pupils will take special interest in this work. He has decided to have six or seven declamations from each grade those declaimers will be elected soon, so they can begin to work on their parts.

Our school has accepted the challenge from the S. E. A. A. S. to debate and declaim. The pupils who will take part are as follows: Debaters, Jesse Pittman, James McLeod; Declaimers, Howard Roland and Charley Crawford. There will be two pupils sent from here to declaim in the Chautauque at Eufaula. These pupils were appointed by the teachers and are Mae Flowers and Eva Ames.

Willie Pearle Carter, Drucilla Brown.

CICERONIAN NOTES.

Monday morning's program was carried out with few failing to respond.

The debate, "Resolved that school teachers should be married," was interesting, especially to the unmarried teachers, for the judges rendered their decision in favor of the negative.

The "Riddles" by Harrie Crawford afforded much amusement.

Mr. Quyn Fortner made a tall concerning certain constitutional laws, which had heretofore been abused on account of misunderstanding of some clauses in the constitution.

Quite a crowd of pupils, mostly of the senior class, went picnicking at Murphy's mill Saturday. They report a pleasant trip, despite the inclemency of the weather.

We are glad to report the progress of one of our former pupils. Jake Fortner, is making in his studies at the West Point Military academy. He ranks first in one subject and is up with the average with all the rest.

The Alabama Educational Association will meet at Birmingham April 8, 1909. The Dothan teachers are likely to attend.

The summer school to be taught by Messrs. Brown, Pearson and Complins will begin May 31 and end July 2. The purpose of this school is to prepare teachers to take the state examination.

Woman's Friend

Nearly all women suffer at times from female ailments. Some women suffer more acutely and more constantly than others. But whether you have little pain or whether you suffer intensely, you should take Wine of Cardui and get relief. Cardui is a safe, natural medicine, for women, prepared scientifically from harmless vegetable ingredients. It acts easily on the female organs and gives strength and tone to the whole system.

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Verna Wallace, of Sanger, Tex., tried Cardui. She writes "Cardui has done more for me than I can describe. Last spring, I was taken with female inflammation and consulted a doctor, but to no avail, so I took Cardui, and inside of three days, I was able to do my housework. Since then my trouble has never returned." Try it!

It appears that in all the states of the union where general assemblies are in session some member has introduced a bill fixing greater punishment for the kidnaper. If such one will just make the crime a capital one it will not be too severe.

Dothan has been neglect of her streets for some time but she thanks to her front with her schools and churches.

When the editors come to Dothan in June we shall feel ashamed of our unpaved streets but we hope by then to be able to state that we are preparing to get ready to fix them.

Some one suggests that we should say something now and then about a city park and treat it as a law. The park will come with the road. We feel for the interest right now in the promotion of water plants. They will furnish cheap power to operate the cars and also run factories and mills in Dothan.
